General Information about the University

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT (FERPA)

In carrying out their assigned responsibilities, many offices at the University of Virginia collect and maintain information about students. Although these records belong to the University, both University policy and federal law accord students a number of rights concerning these records.

The Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, commonly known as FERPA, establishes the regulations regarding access to and disclosure of student records.

To fulfill FERPA requirements, the University has established policies on student records. These policies outline a student's rights regarding his/her records, where records about the student may be kept and maintained, what kinds of information are in those records, the conditions under which the student or anyone else may have access to information, in those records, and what action a student can take if it is believed that the information in his/her record is inaccurate or that the student's rights have been compromised. The University's policies on student records are available on the web at <http://www.virginia.edu/registrar/privacyact.html>. For more information or to receive a copy, contact the Office of the University Registrar (UREG) by mail at P.O. Box 400203, Charlottesville, VA 22904-4203; by phone at (434) 924-4122; or by email at ureg@virginia.edu.

TITLE IX COMPLIANCE

The Office of Equal Opportunity and Civil Rights at the University is responsible for monitoring compliance with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (20 U.S.C. § 1681). Title IX is a federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in all educational programs and activities of the University. Information about UVA's Title IX policies and procedures is available online at <https://www.eocr.virginia.edu/title-ix>. You can also view the University's Notice of Non-Discrimination and Equal Opportunity Statement at <http://eocr.virginia.edu/notice-non-discrimination-and-equal-opportunity>. ACCOMMODATIONS AND SERVICES FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

The Student Disability Access Center supports UVA students by helping to ensure them access to the full University experience. Its primary role is to determine eligibility and to provide necessary academic, housing, dining, transportation, and other accommodations for qualified students with disabilities in compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, as amended. For information about accommodations and services for students with disabilities, please contact the Student Disability Access Center by mail at Elson Student Health Center, 400 Brandon Avenue, 1st Floor, Charlottesville, VA 22903; by phone at (434) 243-5180; or, by email at SDAC@virginia.edu. TUITION ADJUSTMENT POLICY AND WITHDRAWAL FROM THE UNIVERSITY

The University has a tuition adjustment policy that stipulates the amount of tuition and fees that are returned to a student who withdraws during a term. For information about refunds on student accounts, go to the webpage at <http://sfs.virginia.edu/billing/refunds>.

Students who are withdrawing from all classes at the University must notify UREG. More detailed information about withdrawal from the University is contained in the University Record at <http://records.ureg.virginia.edu/index.php>. Choose “University Regulations” from the left-hand menu and then the “Academic” link at the top of the page. Students should contact their individual school of enrollment with questions about the academic impact of their withdrawal. Recipients of veterans’ education benefits should contact UREG to notify them of withdrawal from the University.

Student Financial Services (SFS) is required by federal statute to recalculate federal financial aid eligibility for students who withdraw, drop out, are dismissed, or take a leave of absence prior to completing 60% of a semester. The federal Title IV financial aid programs must be recalculated in these situations. Title IV funds are Pell, SEOG, and CSAP grants, Perkins Loan, Direct Subsidized, Direct Unsubsidized, and PLUS loans. Student Financial Services will determine if students who completely withdraw during a term have earned the money disbursed or owe a repayment. For additional information, contact Student Financial Services by mail at P.O. Box 400204-4204, Charlottesville, VA 22904; by phone at (434) 982-6000; or by email at sfs@virginia.edu.

Penalties for Drug Violations: A federal or state drug conviction can disqualify a student for federal student aid. Convictions only count against a student for aid eligibility purposes if they were for an offense that occurred during a period of enrollment for which the student was receiving federal student aid. The period of ineligibility for FSA funds depends on whether the conviction was for sale or possession and whether the student had previous offenses. If eligibility has been suspended due to a drug conviction, students can regain eligibility early by successfully completing an approved drug rehabilitation program or by passing two unannounced drug tests administered by an approved drug rehabilitation program. For more information about this topic, go to: <https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/eligibility/criminal-convictions>.

Direct Loan and Private Education Loan Disclosures: The Department of Education has made available a Direct Loan model disclosure form available at <http://www.direct.ed.gov/dlplain.pdf>. For students considering a private education loan, the University suggests FASTChoice as a place for consumers to start their search for and comparison of available private education loans. The University does not endorse any individual lender offering loans through FASTChoice and encourages consumers to review private loan terms and conditions carefully, as they can vary from lender to lender and from year to year. Disclosures about private education loans completed through FASTChoice are made by them to the consumer in the process of completing the loan application.

Terms of Student Loans, Including Exit Counseling and Necessity of Repayment: For undergraduate students, go to the webpage at <http://sfs.virginia.edu/undergrad/loans2018>. For graduate students, go to <http://sfs.virginia.edu/grad/aid/loans2018>.

SCHOLARSHIP/STUDENT LOAN DEBT RELIEF SCAMS

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) web site contains important information for students and parents about scholarship scams. The FTC cautions against using scholarship service agencies that say:

- "The scholarship is guaranteed or your money back."
- "You can't get this information anywhere else."
- "I just need your credit card or bank account number to hold this scholarship."
- "We'll do all the work."
- "The scholarship will cost some money."
- "You've been selected by a 'national foundation' to receive a scholarship" or "You're a finalist" in a contest you never entered.

If you believe you have been the victim of scholarship fraud, wish to file a complaint, or want more information, call (877) 382-4357 or see <https://www.ftccomplaintassistant.gov/#&panel1-1>.

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) web site contains important information for students and parents about student loan debt relief scams. The CFPB warns students to avoid paying third-party or private companies that provide debt relief based on the following warning signs:

- Pressure to pay high up-front fees
- Promises of immediate loan forgiveness or debt cancellation
- Demands that you sign a "third party authorization"
- Requests for your FSA ID

If you believe you have been the victim of student loan debt relief fraud, wish to file a complaint, or want more information, call (855) 411-2372 or see <http://www.consumerfinance.gov/students>.
